General Feel

Rustic, slowly dying little market town.

Caravans are getting smaller and some merchants no longer visit. Occasionally a Khuzan shows up with some trade goods.

Baronial seat and site of a Fair. This is the biggest town in the area

Largest market in the area. If things can't be found anywhere else, they can either be made here by one of the local craftsmen or ordered through one of the mercantylers.

ERRATA

Getha 3 Sir Shorisir has been in the service of the Indamas for 30 years, not 50.

Getha is missing a description of manor location F. This is the ostler's stables and workshop.

Plot Hooks:

[1] – Lunda is known to skim tolls and take bribes.

[4] – Olmael's mother is senile. She is liable to say or do odd or even crazy things without meaning harm. Anyone helping the old lady will be rewarded by the Sermel clan with their gratitude. Anyone harming the old lady will receive the clan's scorn and have a difficult time when using businesses run by clan members.

[16] - Mason trying to arrange contracts to expand Elmeze tower. He is using the Hlean temple's help.

[Keep 3-5] - Lady Udine is an Elendsa and is gathering support for her brother Conwan's bid for the crown. If this comes to pass, the Indama family's influence will surge.

[10] - The perfumer is a spy for the bandit group that operates in the Kirsta Forest.

[5] – The miller is a lecherous old goat with bastards scattered around.

[18] - Peonian priest is a bastard and wants to kill the miller

[8] – Hleanes are looking for opportunities to expand their influence.

[23] – The moneylender is related to usurers in Azadmere and Tashal. He uses coded messages to communicate with them.

[33] – Smith knows his beloved son is actually the miller's bastard.

[40] – Where did the salter's apprentice get the fine bracelet he gave the serving girl?

[Keep 2-2] – Nursemaid hunting for a husband.

[Keep 3-2] – Baroness looking for a suitable match for her daughter.

Schedule of Events

Hall moot held on the second Second Day (day 12) of each month. Sir Shorisir officiates unless the Baron is in residence at the Keep.

- (1) The Indama annual boar hunt is hosted at Emerule, a small manor in the western part of the Fethael hundred. Some politics. Lots of hunting.
- (2) As part of his progress around the kingdom, the Serekela attends the mass of St. Orthas' Day at Getha or perhaps (even better) Jenkald.
- (3) All of the Indamas come to Lethyl to celebrate St. Valamin's Day and St. Syrele's Feast. St. Syrele's is considered the start of the family's annual hunt
- (4) The annual tax recording is done during the end of Halane/beginning of Savor. Lords like Sir Eadwin meet with their vassals and then all proceed to Getha to meet with the Baron

HUNDHOLT 17

HUNDHOLT

Lord: Sir Haradoc Indama

General Feel

Paranoid and secretive, the inhabitants of this town are either for the Bailiff or keep their mouths shut.

Center of law and order of the Hundred. The Bailiff maintains ten Warders, led by experienced Provosts, to patrol the area, collect tolls, and enforce the law. Every month, the Hundred moot is held here, so most people will come here several times a year for legal matters .

The Inn's beer and cider are very popular, even if the rest of the village's market is rather sparse.

ERRATA

Hundholt pg 12 – The cross reference to Drydal Urdel under the Hundred Moot should read, "...Dyrdal Urdel [11] works..." instead of "...Dyrdal Urdel [30] works..."

Plot Hooks:

[#14] - Innkeeper is embezzling money.

Undil Drelin [#18] isn't who he claims to be.

Tarast Churil [#28] is a foundling with a mystery.

[D7] The B/H keeps a trio of mistresses; calling them "seamstresses" pg11. The Hlean HP has discovered Lady Balsha's repressed lesbianism and hopes to exploit this for her political gain.

[#21] One of the villagers is determined to kill Sir Haradoc for a flogging he said he didn't deserve.

Pg11 - Sir Haradoc has coerced Lady Erila Kobarney (wife of Sir Tommas' son Shorka) into an affair.

[#6] Reeve is a fawning incompetent.

[#12] Peasant collects and sells falcon's eggs.

[#22] Cottars trying to marry for more land.

[#24] Peasant informs on her neighbors.

[#25] Unrepentant adulteress "borrows" other women's hunsbands.

{#30} Miser

[#32] Oldial wants his son to become Sir Haradoc's huntsman.

Schedule of Events

Hall moot held on the first Fifth Day (day 5) of each month.

Hundred Moot is held on the Fifth-day of the third week of every month. (Day 25).

Shire Moot is held here twice a year at the Baron's convenience.
